"We'll be blue without you" may be Carmel's farewell to Police Chief Clyde Klaumann if he is elected Sheriff of Monterey County. He has taken out nomination papers but not returned them to the county clerk's office as yet.

The reason we'll be blue . . . the police department this week received their new Riviera or robin's egg-blue Studebaker patrol car, and it will be with us for a much longer time than Chief Klaumann if he is elected sheriff in June.

It has been back-to-school week for Warren Edwards, Carmel High School principal, and Wayne Greenfield, assistant superintendent of the Carmel school district, who have been attending classes in the IBM plant in San Jose. Mr. Greenfield spent Tuesday reviewing business accounting machine operation. Mr. Edwards will remain at the IBM plant through tomorrow. All week he has been studying scheduling, report card and permanent record machines. His report card, machine-processed no doubt, will be ready when he comes home.

George Reilly, first district member of the State Board of Equalization, wants everyone to be happy on Saturday. He sent The Pine Cone a greeting card bordered with shamrocks and with a bit of green ribbon to wear, also the wish that "On St. Patrick's Day you may wear a smile that's bright and gay as the Emerald Isle."

What could happen here is being shown this week in the Irving Lundborg Company window on Dolores Street where the Carmel Citizens Committee is displaying a model of Hatton Canyon constructed at a cost of $500.00.

The model, built to scale, shows the State's proposed Hatton Canyon freeway route with cuts and fills. A scale model of the San Carlos Hotel, largest building on the Peninsula, is also displayed to show just how devastating the cuts into the canyon will be if the freeway is developed according to State plans.

A blue ribbon marks the route of the scenic road which the Citizens Committee is proposing as a replacement for the freeway from the top of Carmel Hill through Hatton Canyon to the mouth of Carmel Valley.

PARENTS' CLUB OR P-TA?

Members of the Carmel High School P-TA unit will consider whether to continue affiliation with the P-TA national organization or re-organize as an independent parents' club at a meeting at 8:00 o'clock on Monday evening in Sunset School auditorium.

There will be two speakers. Laurence P. Horan will explore the potentialities of a parents' club separate from the P-TA. Mrs. Ed Moran, first vice president of the 20th P-TA District, will explain advantages of remaining with the P-TA.

Discussion by members following this, it is hoped, will determine the future status of the high school parents' organization.

Value Of A Teacher Depends On Variety And Depth Of Experience Bay School's Rosa Doner Believes

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

"Rosa Doner has become an institution."

That's how one Carmel mother summed up the almost 12 years Rosa has spent as director of the Carmel Parent (cooperative) Nursery School held in the little red Bay school house.

If it's possible to have our institutions whimsical, perceptive and warm-hearted, then we have one in Rosa, who moved with her family to Carmel Highlands in January, 1950, took over the nursery in September of that year, and has devoted a major part of her time to it since, with rewarding results.

Rosa laughed at the "institution" label and said that fortunately she didn't feel much like an institution. But she was "dead serious" a few minutes later examining a battered board with two badly bent and protruding nails. "That's Joey's boat," she said gravely. "He still has some work to do on it with the hammer."

Besides this gift of being able to switch instantaneously to a child's-eye view of things, Rosa has the calm radiance most mothers strive for and few genuinely achieve, and the nameless Something Else which separates exceptional teachers from average teachers.

Painful to her are parents who think the Carmel co-operative nursery is a baby-sitting service, or who bring their youngsters "because they have no one to play with at home."

"We're all learning here," Rosa explains. "The children and the mothers, too."

The Bay School nursery operates in general like most such co-op groups.

Organized under the Adult Education Program of the Carmel school system, it was started in the fall of 1949, and met for the succeeding five years in the basement of the Carmel Youth Center.

Then after the Highlands elementary school district had joined

Board Cautious About Teachers' Salary Proposals

At a study session last night, Carmel school board members reacted with an attitude of caution to the new, proposed teacher salary schedule prepared by the Association of Carmel Teachers. It was the suggestion of several board members also that "there are other ways to meet this problem (of the need for higher teacher pay)."

Of the ACT schedule, which asks a change in rate of increase to 4.4 per cent over the present 3.1 per cent and ranges from a $4,800 annual minimum salary to $10,536 for a career teacher of 21 years' experience, board president Dr. Grant Fletcher said:

"I have no quarrel with the 10-year goal set in 1960, to be quite frank. I think there are various ways of reaching this other than the way proposed here. The minimum salaries are substantially the same. The jump in the maximums seems relatively large. Perhaps both things could be arrived at by across-the-board increases."

Presenting the schedule, which included comparison studies of Carmel teacher salaries with those in surrounding districts, was Charles Moody, chairman of the salary committee for the ACT, who explained that the function of his committee was "to present the goals which represent the ideas of the majority of the teaching staff."

Board member Dr. Robert Newton thought a low minimum scale should be preserved with respect to initial hiring but the prerogative should be retained in the schedule under which a more rapid than normal rise could be offered an outstanding teacher, even

Wakefield Presents Lowered Recreation Budget, Eliminates Swimming Instruction For Tots

Last night the Carmel Unified School District board viewed a cut-back recreation budget for next year presented by William Wakefield, director of physical education, and prepared by the school district's recreation committee.

This year's total budget figure of $35,974 represents a drop of $12,326 from last year's $48,300, or a reduction in tax amount for recreation of from about 10 to 6½ cents, Wakefield said.

The reduction was possible because the district won't have a capital outlay expenditure of $17,400, which was last year's figure in this category. However, budgeted amount for salaries rose this year by about $2,000 and maintenance was increased from $352 to a "more realistic" figure of $1,600. Other items went up similarly.

If the budget is adopted, an additional $1,000 will be used to build and equip a recreation office at Sunset School, location of the central offices for the district during the next academic year.

Another factor in the recreation program, Wakefield said, would be a change in minimum age for swimming lessons from "any child of school age" to any child who has completed first grade.

Challenged by Dr. Richard Snyder on "reducing the recreation program in this way in the face of an expanding need," Wakefield said the very young swimming stu-

Arts Commission Accepts Gift For Memorial Museum

Yesterday afternoon arts commissioners accepted the gift of a head of Robinson Jeffers from Arch Garner, local sculptor, for exhibition in the memorial art museum at city hall, and acknowledged offers of paintings by two late Carmel artists, William Silva and M. DeNeale Morgan. Mrs. Abbot Silva proposed the gift of the first picture to the city; Mrs. Jeannie Klenke, the second.

Commissioners also decided on policies for the memorial museum. They are as follows: Only work of deceased artists shall be accepted; works of art shall not be restricted to oil paintings only; the memorial museum may be expanded beyond the city hall chambers; Art accepted for the museum shall include works by artists who

Commission Wings To Forest Theater, Old Vic Shakespeare

Chairman Marjorie Wurzmann, yesterday afternoon, spurred arts commissioners into space when she proposed that the famed Old Vic company might be persuaded to give a performance of either Hamlet or Romeo and Juliet at the Forest Theater in May.

Each a Pegasus, commissioners winged to Elsinore or Verona trailing Old Vic players, Shakespeare and the stage of Carmel's city-owned outdoor theater.

Commissioner Fred Rider, a man of the theater who produced The Taming of the Shrew in California's Spanish colonial era costumes, cried "Whoa" by suggesting that any theater in which the Old Vic company plays needs special equipment and lights, also proper provisions for their noted scenery.

But Commissioner Geza St. Galy disregarded the restraining rein and proposed that the Old Vic company play here in the manner of Shakespeare's day with signs to indicate locales and quickly lettered VERONA on a piece of paper and exhibited it to the audience . . . the press.

The latter responded with a sign which said SUN knowing about fog and the Forest Theater.

Returning to the city hall dais from outer space, commissioners decided to write to the Old Vic management and enquire if the Shakespearean company can play here between April engagements in Los Angeles and May commitments in San Francisco. They also ascertained that the Forest Theater can seat 700 persons with an additional 300 people accommodated "in trees and on the greensward." They will also discover conditions necessary for any theater in which the Old Vic company plays, and the price of any appearance of the group.

Hamlet or Romeo and Juliet Old Vic performances at the Forest Theater may thus materialize, commissioners fervently hope.

After all Birnam Wood came to Dunsinane!

RED CROSS FUND CAMPAIGN REPORT

The Red Cross fund drive for a $28,000 goal has reached just beyond the one-third mark with a total of $11,292 collected to date. The largest sum from any one area has come from the Carmel residential district, a total of $6,379.30. Reported from other districts: $2,581.00, Pebble Beach; $955.50 Carmel business; $892 Carmel Valley residential; $340 Carmel Highlands; $75 Big Sur; and $70 Carmel Valley business.

CARMEL HIGH TRACK SQUAD LOSES OPENER

Coach Lloyd Baskerville sent his Carmel High track team into B-division CCAL action last Friday afternoon at the Monterey Peninsula College oval and bumped into a swift Hollister aggregation which packed too much depth for the Carmel thinclads. Short on both practice and track equipment, the Carmel lads lacked an even chance against the Haybalers and wound up on the short end of a 53-37 score. Hollister was especially strong in the sprints, weights, and hurdles and scored heavily in these events.

Carmel's lightweight squad was more than a match for the Hayseeds, piling up 59 points to 37 for the visiting Hollister Babes. Veteran lightweight track star Ted Leidig paced the Carmel lights in the win over the Hayseeds, copping the 75 and 150-yard sprints and running anchor lap on the winning relay team.

Top performance for the Carmel varsity in its losing cause against Hollister was Rich Shively's 5-10 high-jump effort which garnered a first place. Since the Carmel High high-jump pit wasn't rigged for jumping before the Hollister meet, this was Shively's first effort of the season and establishes the lithe senior as one of the top high-jumpers in the CCAL. Other point-makers for the Padres were Kit Chapman, 2nd 440; Rick Baldwin, 2nd 120 hurdles; Bob Wakefield, 2nd 880; Rob Holt, 2nd high-jump; Lee Oleson, 1st 880; Scott Hennessy, 2nd mile; Terry Butler, 3rd mile; Jim Markowitz, 3rd pole-vault.

Carmel's well - balanced lightweight squad showed good power in all events and should be a factor in the limited division of the B-league. Besides Leidig's two wins the Padre Babes got first-place performances from Tom Leutzinger in the hurdles, Phil Zobel in the shot-put, Jeff McKenna in the 1320 and Dave Terry in the pole-vault. Others contributing to the Carmel score were Hugh Diltz, 3rd 660; Jose Fernandez, 2nd 75 and 150; Ed Neroda, 2nd shot-put; Ken Wiese, 2nd 330; Gary Mumford, 2nd pole-vault; Pete Blake, 3rd pole-vault; and Carmel's winning relay team of Fernandez, Wiese, Terry, and Leidig.

PADRE NINE AT HOLLISTER FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Carmel High's varsity baseball team makes its 1962 debut tomorrow afternoon at Hollister, where it engages the Haybalers in a league joust to open the CCAL B-division slate. Hampered by lack of practice due to a soggy playing field and a late basketball season, the Padre horsehiders will be going into league action without a practice game, but Coach Hadley Hicks is confident his charges will be able to handle the sophomore-studded Haybaler aggregation. The Red and Gray squad is liberally sprinkled with experienced pastimers who know their way around the bases. Returning lettermen Lindy Mahrt, Jim Kelley, Steve Johnson, Bob Larson and Rance Kastor provide a good nucleus for the starting unit with junior-varsity grads Howdy King, Chris Marvin, Matt Little, Mike Brasher, Mike Oakey and Al Tegtmeier providing award - winners from the jayvee ranks. A pair of transfers, Mike Escondon and Dick Loffelmacher, were baseball lettermen at their previous schools and figure to break into the Padre starting lineup.

CARMEL TENNIS TEAM OFF TO GOOD START

Carmel High's tennis squad, defending champions of the CCAL B-division, took up where it left off last season in this year's league-opener when it clipped the dangerous Salinas High squad, 5 to 2, in last Saturday's windswept matches at Salinas High School courts. Carmel's number one and two players, Page van Loben Sels and Ron Berry, ran into tough competition in the Salinas one-two combo and dropped a close decision to the Cowboy duo. However, Craig Olsen, Stan Cummings and Pete Steffen came through with wins in the singles matches to salvage the victory for the Padres. In doubles play, van Loben Sels and Steffen teamed up to upset the talented Salinas number one duo, and the Olsen-Cummings combination came through in fine style to sweep the doubles play.

Little League

ALL LITTLE LEAGUERS MUST REGISTER MONDAY NIGHT

All Carmel Little League candidates who will have reached their 9th birthday by August 1 and who will not have reached their 13th birthday by August 1 must register next Monday night, March 19, at the Carmel High School music room from 7:00 until 9:00 o'clock. Boys who participated in the Little League and Farm League programs last year are also required to attend Monday night's "sign-up" session and pick up vital information relative to the 1962 season.

If possible, both parents should accompany the Little League candidates to the "sign-up," bringing a copy or photostat of the boy's birth certificate if this will be his first year in the Little League program. Youngsters who participated in Little League or Farm Leauge last season need not bring a birth certificate, but they must bring their parents.

Mom and Dad will have an opportunity to get into the Little League act Monday where members of Mrs. Jane Hudson's Women's Auxiliary group will be on hand to sell membership cards to help finance the program, accept umpire and scorekeeper volunteers, and help the parents and youngsters get acquainted with the Little League program in general.

With the first tryout session slated for March 31, it is imperative that all candidates attend Monday night's "sign-up" in order that Little League officials may lay the groundwork for smooth tryouts which will assure every boy an adequate opportunity to make one of the teams. Tryouts will be held at the Carmel High diamond on March 31, April 7, and April 14, with the first games of the Little League season due to unfold on May 5.

HEARD THREE TIMES DAILY

KRML — 1410— SERENITY IN SOUND

Harry Eckert

Harry Bernard Eckert died on Sunday evening in a local hospital. He had been ill only a brief time.

A Carmel resident for the past 13 years, Mr. Eckert was born December 26, 1879, in Albany, New York. For many years he lived in Seattle, where he was an engineer on the staff of the Seattle Gas Company.

Mr. Eckert leaves his wife, Mrs. Lena Campbell Eckert, who lives at the family home, Junipero Street and Seventh Avenue; two daughters, Mrs. Gretchen Wagner of Carmel, and Mrs. Daphne Morgan of Aberdeen, Washington; three sons, Carroll Eckert of Bogalusa, Louisiana, Norman Eckert and Hamilton Eckert, both of Seattle, and a brother, Walter Eckert of Greatview, Washington.

Private funeral rites were held yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove, with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing of Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating. Paul Mortuary has been in charge of arrangements.

Anne Gallagher

Mrs. Anne Ellen Gallagher died Monday at her home on Lincoln Street at Eighth Avenue. Although she had been receiving medical treatment for a heart condition, her death was unexpected.

A native San Franciscan, Mrs. Gallagher was born in September, 1873. Her husband, the late George E. Gallagher, preceded her in death in 1952.

Mrs. Gallagher had lived in Carmel for the past 25 years. She was a member of the Carmel Mission Basilica Altar Society.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Emmet McMenamin of Monterey, and three nephews, Emmet McMenamin, Jr., of Del Rey Oaks; the Reverend George McMenamin of San Luis Obispo, and Robert Emmett of New York, N. Y.

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Gallagher was solemnized this morning at Carmel Mission Basilica, with burial to follow later in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma, California.

Value of A Teacher Depends On Variety And Experience Depth

the Carmel Unified District, and Bay School was abandoned by elementary-level classes, Rosa and her group moved into the double-story, 80-year-old frame structure facing Carmel Bay and lying along the highway between Carmel and Carmel Highlands.

Fathers of nursery scholars constructed and provided the battery of play-yard equipment which includes a brightly-painted station-wagon body for climbing in and on, and a complex of bars for swinging and dangling, a sand lot and other items, some more conventional, some less so.

Rosa herself is the only salaried staff member of the school. Some 23 mothers form the co-op organization, which takes care of cleaning, repair and maintenance of the building and grounds.

These mothers also devote one morning a week each to running the school, making a total staff per school day of four or five assistants to Rosa. These same mothers act as chauffeurs for the car pools on the day they come to the nursery to help. It all leads to a smooth-running operation.

In addition, the mothers gather for a class on Monday evenings with Rosa and share information, compare impressions, talk over problems. Tuition for each mother under the Adult School set-up is $5 per semester. Charge per month per child is $6.75, with a fraction of that amount for additional children in the same family. This covers expenses of the co-op organization. Rosa says she thinks this is relatively high for a co-op school but the budget is established on need alone, and the Carmel co-op undertakes a greater share of the expenses than do co-ops in some other school districts.

One of the precepts, perhaps the overriding precept, on which Rosa Doner relies is that the value of a teacher depends on the depth and variety of her experience.

A graduate of Bank Street School, started in the Thirties in Greenwich Village as an experimental school for teachers of very young children, Rosa says the Bank Street emphasis on having the student teachers learn while doing was unique then.

Mondays through Thursdays, the student spent actually teaching with the age group in which she was interested. Fridays and Saturdays she attended classes from 9:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

"Since Bank Street believed deeply that the student teacher should be well oriented in the world, we were further scheduled for such projects as a two-week trip through the United States countryside; we studied geological configurations, visited with the Amish and Mennonite religious sects in their own communities, went into steel factories and down into mines, attended meetings of employers and workers," Rosa recalls.

Curiously, Rosa Doner never intended to become a teacher when she first went to college, though her early life had given her a head start on the Bank Street formula for becoming a teacher through assimilation of a multiplicity of experiences.

Born near Petersburg in White Russia, she came as a six-year-old to Newport, Rhode Island, with her family. Learning was held sacred in her family, Rosa remembers. "It was the kind of family where you might go to bed hungry, but you had a tutor."

After a year at Barnard College, she transferred to the University of California at Los Angeles, and graduated in 1929 from the University of California at Berkeley. But Rosa had meanwhile seized the first changing of schools as an opportunity for adventure. She and another girl set out on a cross-country hitchhiking expedition leaving their families under the impression they were on a leisurely bus trip.

They studied the then somewhat seamy face of America like a couple of sociologists on a field trip. "We accepted only short rides," Rosa remembers. "That way we had a chance to meet more people from different sections and study their differences. I could hardly believe some of the things we saw after we got out of solid New England—whole families jammed into cars with all their household equipment, bedsprings on top, all sorts of poverty and distress, and this was even before the depression.

"It made us think. I don't know now what we thought, but anyway it shook up our ideas of this country. People were generally friendly. They'd drive 50 to 100 miles out of their way to take us where we wanted to go.

"And we developed a complete set of rules for girl hitchhikers. Never say you're going all the way to California. Never laugh at the driver's jokes. Never accept gifts. Never catch his eye in the rear-view mirror. Just be friendly and he'll tell you the story of his life. That's just what we got—the life stories of a lot of people."

Even with this trip for a stimulus, Rosa became neither a social worker nor a teacher—yet. "One of the reasons I wasn't interested in becoming a teacher is that I remembered too well the kind of people who taught me in my first years at school. Cold, shallow people. I didn't want to be like them. And this is really the crux of what I eventually began to believe in. The first adults a child comes to know, outside his own parents, leave a tremendous impression. This is why it's so important for the mothers who join the school (the Carmel co-op) to get to know and really like children."

Rosa went back East after college, enrolled in Macy's Department Store training school. "And for four years at the depth of the Depression I was working for a store. I kept telling myself, 'This is no time to be in this kind of business. I don't want to depend on something as shaky as commerce and have the floor dropped from under me, or never know whether it's going to or not, which is worse.' I took a leave of absence to be married. Then I didn't go back, even when I was made an assistant buyer."

It was when Rosa was living in Croton-on-the-Hudson that she saw her first experimental nursery school at a time when interest in this sort of thing was gaining impetus. It was at Hessian Hill School. "Those children were having magnificent experiences," Rosa says. "The teachers were vibrant and very much alive. They kept saying, 'Rosa, you must do this.' And I did!"

Rosa worked first with the children to see how she liked it. She worked in a settlement house with pre-school youngsters, in Harlem and on the Lower East Side of New York City. From there it was only a short jump to her decision to enter Bank Street.

Then there was a brief time when she had still other interests. After her marriage about 20 years ago to artist Ephraim Doner, the couple lived for a time, among other places, on a ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains.

To those who know the Doners, the following will come as no surprise. "We raised a lot of stuff on the ranch, but for some reason before we could sell it, we gave it all away. I canned jars and jars of fruit. The cherries were so beautifully scarlet, the apricots golden. I'd give the jars to people who came to see us.

"There was a stream running through our land where salmon came to spawn. I suppose we could have caught them and lived on fish, but after all they were there to spawn, weren't they? That was their business, not ours and we decided the kindest thing we could do was to leave them alone."

The Doners' present household in Carmel Highlands includes a daughter, Tasha, now 17, and a constantly arriving and departing traffic pattern of friends.

For most people, it seems, know the Doners. And for Rosa especially, to have so many little people of pre-school age who love her and call her "Rosa" (sometimes "Wosa") is surely a notable achievement, in itself.

Republican Women Provide Registrar As Voter Service

A registrar for prospective voters in the California primary election will be provided by the Carmel Republican Women's Club and will be at the three following locations every Friday in March, and on April 2, 4, 6, 9, 10, 11 and the deadline for registering, April 12:

Irving Lundborg and Company, Carmel, from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon;

The Bank of America, Carmel Valley Village; and Carmel Valley Realty Company: 2:00-5:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

This registration is for anyone who is new in the community or who has let his registration lapse. In order to be eligible to register, it is necessary to have lived in the state for a year, in the county for 60 days, and in the precinct for 54 days.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

In reference to Frederick Rider's suggestion for an auditorium for larger theatrical and musical events on the Peninsula, it is interesting to note the remark of William Zeckendorf, New York hotel magnate and financier, on Pittsburgh's planned cultural center. He stated, "I have always said that the arts have a huge effect upon the business of communities in which they prosper," and cited, in support of this statement, the financial losses suffered in New York when theatres were closed during the actors' strike.

A country becomes famous in history for its culture rather than its commerce. President and Mrs. Kennedy are patrons of music and the kindred arts. Mrs. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the People to Peoples Committee, initiated by former President Eisenhower, is continuing its activity and recently presented the National Symphony League with land near Washington, D.C., for a national center. This country is truly beginning to realize the importance of culture.

The Wallfisch-Duo, distinguished viola and piano ensemble, played a rare recital at the new concert hall at Monterey Peninsula College last Friday. It was free to the public for which the college deserves the gratitude of the community. Those who filled the hall were well aware of the exemplary standard of the performance that with its scholarly concepts and musicianship has won for these two artists the highest place on two continents. Their simplicity and charm of personality, also the earnestness and finesse with which they presented their program, were refreshing. Piano tones in the liquid and scintillating phrases of Lory Wallfisch, with the vibrations of her husband's viola, fused and blended in the spiritualized interpretations that the Wallfisches gave the entire program. This consisted of a Handel Sonata in C major, Pictures from Fairy Tales by Schumann, Brahms's Sonata in F minor and a Hindemith sonata for unaccompanied viola. This last number served to reveal further the brilliant technical facility of Ernst Wallfisch.

The Laky Galleries on Monday were filled with guests for the preview of the Georgio Valenzin exhibit of paintings of Venice.

An individual technique of suggestion, with truthful, deep and colorful atmosphere, make this artist a rare contributor to the realities of vision and balanced perception. Architecture is portrayed in living, vibrating structures where even the subtle aura of buildings can be discerned in mysterious depths.

CHILDREN'S CHOIR TO SING EVENSONG AT ALL SAINTS' THROUGHOUT LENT

The Children's Choirs of All Saints' Episcopal Parish will sing Choral Evensong on Saturday afternoons at 5:15 o'clock during Lent. The Boys' Choir under the direction of the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas, and the Girls' Choir under the direction of Robert M. Forbes, will alternate in the singing of the ancient evening service. Developed from Jewish Temple worship, the service was set to medieval Gregorian plainsong and translated into English by Archbishop Cranmer in the 16th century. Psalms, chants, and scripture readings concluded by a hymn and prayers constitute the lovely service. The clergy of the parish officiate.

The board of directors of the Carmel Citizens Committee, this week mailed postcards to the over-400 members of the civic protection group requesting answers be returned to three questions on a public parking program, also asking for suggestions on the matter now being studied by the Carmel Planning Commission at the request of the city council.

The questions are:

Who should provide public off-street parking spaces, business people or the city?

If provided by the city, should parking spaces be obtained and supported by city tax funds or self-supporting?

Where should parking spaces be located?

Peter Chang, Jr., 24, is a new deputy district attorney for Monterey County assigned to the Peninsula branch courthouse.

He graduated from Stanford University in 1961 and was admitted to the California Bar in January. Since November he has been employed as an acting deputy with the rank and pay of investigator in the office of District Attorney Edward Barnes.

A trumpet and bass viol player, he appeared at the 1960 Monterey Jazz Festival with the Gerald Wilson band. When he was 14 years old he played with Louis Armstrong. He is of Korean extraction and the son of Lieutenant Commander Peter Chang (USN Ret.). He and his wife have two children and live, at present, at La Selva Beach.

Testimony from Carmel building inspector Floyd Adams on Tuesday in Monterey Municipal Court initiated Carmel's long-planned war on violators of zoning laws governing single-family dwellings.

In court that day Walter G. Gardiner of Oakland, owner of property at Lincoln Street and Ninth Avenue, was found guilty following a jury trial of maintaining two kitchens in a single home. He was placed on two-year probation.

Maintenance of the two kitchens in the R-1 zone is in violation of the city code, which outlaws duplexes, apartments or guest cottages with kitchens on single lots in the single-family district.

Also under city scrutiny have been private homes which violate overnight guest restrictions, by exceeding the legal number of paying guests, or failure to acquire licenses as guest homes.

A hearing conducted by the California Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control on whether a liquor license should be transferred to the Cypress West Hotel has been continued, but no date yet announced.

In three hours of testimony Monday in the city hall, principals in the action reviewed reasons for the ABC board's rejection of the hotel's application for a license, chief among which was the inn's proximity to the Church of the Wayfarer.

Testifying for the ABC was Dr. K. Fillmore Gray of the church, who said door locks and additional supervision of youth groups would be needed at the church if the decision not to allow a license is reversed.

Monterey County Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson of Point Lobos has been at home this week recovering from injuries received in an auto accident Saturday evening on Highway 101 at San Miguel Canyon Road near Aromas.

According to the California Highway Patrol, the accident occurred about 9:00 o'clock when Hudson's car skidded into a car driven by Howard Douglas of San Jose, which was motionless on the highway at a right angle to traffic. A third car was involved in the accident after the original collision.

Hudson suffered two broken ribs and bruises.

Heraldic Authority Says Helmet-Headed Gaelic For Kennedy

St. Patrick's Day is Saturday, and Carmel's authority on heraldry, Colonel William F. Freehof, is reminded of the coat of arms presented to President Kennedy by the Chief Herald of Ireland this time last year. The event received little publicity, he observed Tuesday when he gave the Pine Cone a handpainted copy of the original Armorial Bearings of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, President of the United States.

The emblazonment by Colonel Freehof, is as follows:

"Sable, three helmets in profile or within a bordure per saltire gules and ermine. Crest: Between two olive branches a cubit sinister arm in armour erect, the hand holding a sheaf of four arrows, points upward, all proper.

"In ordinary language: Three gold (or) helmets on a black (sable) shield, within a border divided X wise (saltire) red (gules) and ermine. The crest is an arm cut off between wrist and elbow (cubit). The arm is sinister (left); all of natural color (proper). The helmets are a pun or play on the name Kennedy, the original Gaelic O'Cinneide meaning helmeted-head."

"I also gave a copy to Speirs Ruskell in the post office," Colonel Freehof reported.

(Editor's note: We are surprised to discover Sparky isn't the chief herald of Ireland as well as of President Kennedy.)

County Planning Council Invites Public To Conference On Saturday

Regional and local planning for Monterey County will be among topics discussed Saturday at the annual conference of the Monterey County Planning Council in Asilomar chapel. Planning authorities, also state and local government officials, will be speakers at the all-day meeting. Dean of California planners, Gordon Whitnall will give the keynote address.

The public is invited to attend all sessions. The opening session will be at 9:00 o'clock and will be followed by six panel discussions. The keynote address, New Concepts in Planning, will be given at the noon luncheon by planning consultant Gordon Whitnall, A.I.P.

Responsibilities of a Planning Commissioner and New Tools in Plan Effectuation are the titles of two panel discussions at 9:40 o'clock. Speakers will be Burt L. Talcott, chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors; Mayor A. C. Atteridge of Salinas; W. D. Concolino, Monterey city planning comissioner, and Mrs. W. B. Wilbur, Monterey county planning commissioner on the first topic.

New Tools in Planning, the other panel at 9:40 o'clock, will have the following speakers: Philip Breck, Jr., of Breck and Associates, public relations firm; Sydney Williams, A.I.P., planning consultant; Saul Weingarten, Seaside city attorney; and Don M. Davis of Stone and Youngberg, municipal financing consultants. They will discuss, respectively, public relations and planning, planned community districts, amortization of non-conforming uses, capital improvement programming.

Regional Planning for Monterey County is the title of a panel at 11:00 o'clock. Speakers at this time, also their subjects, will be: State planning officer Elton R. Andrews, A.I.P., California Office of Planning; deputy director Harry Freeman, Department of Public Works; multiple use planner S. C. Trotter of Los Padres National Forest, National Forest Service; regional supervisor Harry Dean, Division of Beaches and Parks.

Afternoon panel discussions will start at 2:00 o'clock with a technical session for new commissioners, and another session on assessment and taxing practices as planning tools. Speakers on the first panel will be John Thornberry, chief deputy county counsel; Roy Anderson, deputy county counsel; Larry Wise, A.I.P., and Bryant Hall, A.I.P., planning consultants. Their respective subjects will be variances, meeting procedures, plan lines, and rezoning.

On the second 2:00 o'clock panel, speakers will be John Keith, chief of the Division of Assessment Standards, State Board of Equalization; Don V. Collin, director of research, California Farm Bureau Federation; John W. Dyckman of Arthur D. Little, Inc., San Francisco, a visiting professor at Stanford University.

Local Planning for Monterey County, last panel of the day, will start at 3:30 o'clock. At this time Loren Bunte, district engineer, will discuss flood control and water conservation; Bruce McClain, Monterey County road commissioner, planning for Monterey County highways; Ed DeMars, A.I.P., Monterey County director of planning, progress on Monterey County General Plan.

The Pleasure Of His Company, Light-Hearted Comedy At Circle, Plays To Appreciative Audiences

Playing to appreciative audiences at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre the past week end was The Pleasure of His Company, the Samuel Taylor-Cornelia Otis Skinner drawing-room comedy.

Written with light-hearted entertainment as its clear and sole objective, the play yielded its share of laughter, but seemed to grow somewhat heavy-handed toward its end. In the final scene, in fact, matters were allowed to grow so tense as to hint that a plot built on the sheer foolery of a father running off on a world cruise with his own daughter might after all have been meant as an Ibsenesque exploration of a father-daughter social problem.

Florence Dormody was convincing in the role created by Cornelia Otis Skinner, that of the worried mother of a bride-elect who is teetering between decisions to go ahead and marry her bucolic fiance or seize her last opportunity to become acquainted with her sophisticated, globe-hopping father, who has just returned after some 15 glamorous years abroad.

Happily cast also were Judy Grady as the virginal but open-minded daughter Jessica Poole, Al Wiseman as her step-father Jim Dougherty, and Tell C. Schreiber as Roger Henderson, the gauche and wholesome cattle breeder who is in effect supplanted by his polished intended father-in-law before he can get to the altar.

His audience responded with enthusiasm to the performance of Mason Wright as the suave and unscrupulous Biddeford (Pogo) Poole though the rise-and-fall cadence of this popular veteran actor's speech seemed to suggest more the inflections of an "old timey" pastor exhorting his flock than a man-of-the-world briskly upsetting the secure universe of his former wife's present family.

Also gleaning their share of deserved laughter were Suthep Iemsakul as Toy, the faithful but individualistic houseboy in the San Francisco household, and Clifford Anderson as MacKenzie Savage, Thoreau-quoting grandfather of the bride who had "marched to the sound of his own drum" all the way from his private Walden, which was supposed to be in Monterey or Point Lobos, or somewhere like that.

Frederick Rider, by now a veteran himself, directed the play, with Nick Zanides as manager and Kay LaVigne as stage manager. Barbara Tripp was responsible for the appealing set decor and Jerry Bradley and Everett Bidwell for the lights and sound. They were supported by a competent staff without whose efforts the Circle Theatre could not enjoy the success it has.

That the comedy seemed a bit slow and weighty in the hands of the Carmel group may not be a hindrance to most local playgoers, who may see The Pleasure on succeeding week ends at the Circle on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays at 8:30 o'clock in the evening.—R.P.

Dr. Gray To Review Books As Benefit For Wayfarer Group

The World Outreach Committee of the Church of the Wayfarer is sponsoring a series of three book reviews, for the benefit of the Laubach Literacy Fund, Meals for Millions, and other world-wide benevolences, to be given by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray at the church Fellowship Hall in March and April.

Adrienne, by Andre Maurois, will be the first of the series on March 30 and is a biography of the Marquise de La Fayette as translated from the French by Gerard Hopkins. The second review, on April 6, will be of the recent novel, Be Ready With Bells and Drums, by Elizabeth Kata; and the third, on April 13, will be of Werner Keller's East Minus West=Zero which describes Russian's debt to the Western World from 1862 to 1962.

Larry Cunningham, chairman of the World Outreach Committee, has appointed Mrs. C. John Viking chairman of the book review series. Mrs. Charles W. McDaniel and Mrs. James B. Pruitt will be in charge of the coffee hours preceding each review. Mrs. John R. Christie has been appointed ticket chairman and will be assisted by Mrs. Fred S. Farley, Mrs. Michael Kosty, Mrs. Robert Lee, and Mrs. A. R. Pike. Mrs. Gordon N. Smith is in charge of publicity.

Coffee hours will be from 7:00 to 8:00 o'clock. The reviews will start at 8:00. Tickets for the series of three reviews can be obtained from the church office or committee members.

Art On The Peninsula

Five artists are exhibiting work at Gamble's Galleries, 428 Cannery Row, until April 16. A champagne preview of the one-man shows was given Saturday evening. Exhibitors are Harriet Thorpe, Joshua Meador, Russell Swan, S. C. Yuan and Gino Bushini.

Harriet Thorpe is showing impressions of cities for which she is best known, also landscapes. Born in New York City, she studied at the National Academy of Design, Art Students League and Cooper Union Institute. She now resides in the San Francisco area and is a member of San Francisco Women Artists, Society of Western Artists, Oakland Art Association, and San Leandro Art Association. She has exhibited her paintings previously in Palm Springs, Oakland and San Francisco.

Joshua Meador, landscape and seascape painter, is a resident of Carmel Highlands. His wife and son, Philip, maintain the Carmel Highlands Gallery. At Gamble's Galleries he is exhibiting California harbor, landscape and seascape oils. He was born in Mississippi, attended the Art Institute of Chicago and graduated with a bachelor of arts degree cum laude. After this he came to California to be an associate of Walt Disney Productions. He is now a director of special effects for Disney films and has received screen credit for his work on all major productions of the organization.

Joshua Meador has had showings in the Museum of New Mexico, Los Angeles Museum of Art, de Young Museum in San Francisco, Santa Paula Invitational, Los Angeles City Art Shows, Laguna Beach, Walnut Creek Festival, Palace of the Legion of Honor, Pasadena Art Museum, National Academy of Design. He is a fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters, a member of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Laguna Beach Art Association, Carmel Art Association, and the honorary art fraternity, Delta Phi Delta.

Russell Swan is noted for his desert landscapes. He received his art education at the Otis Art Institute and the Carmel Art Institute. He has also studied with Edward Vysekal, John Hubbard Rich, E. Roscoe Schrader, Ralph Holmes, Tollis Chamberlain, W. Galen Ross and C. Harry Ellis.

He has exhibited in Society of Western Artists and Death Valley Annual shows, also in Chicago, Utah, Los Angeles and Hawaii. He is a member of the Carmel Art Association, Laguna Beach Art Association, Orange County Art Association and Society of Western Artists. He has also won many awards in California and national art competitions.

At Gamble's Galleries S. C. Yuan is showing more than 20 canvases — marines, Cannery Row scenes and abstracts. Born in China, S. C. Yuan began his art studies in high school in his native land, obtained a teaching credential from the Academy of Fine Arts of the Central University of Nanking. During World War II, he served as interpreter for the U.S. Air Force in Southwest China. He came to the United States in 1949. Four years later he became an instructor in the Mandarin department at the U.S. Army Language School here, then resigned to devote his entire time to painting. He subtly blends his Oriental delicacy of color and stroke in Western idiom of expression.

Gino Bushini is a metal sculptor. His birthplace was Wisconsin. He now lives on the Monterey Peninsula and combines his interest in Oriental philosophies with sculpture in iron, painting and designing houses. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. His musical appreciation embraces a field extending from Brubeck through hillbilly and mariachi to Bach harpsichord compositions. His greatest concern in life is "reality."

A preview of a one-man show of the work of Giorgio Valenzen took place Monday evening at the Laky Galleries. The Venetian painter's work will be on display to the public in this location on San Carlos Street through March 31. The 27 pictures in the exhibition are mostly scenes in Venice.

A figurative painter, he has exhibited in London, Paris and Rome. He engages in constant research and experimentation and is one of the few artists to study and use encaustic technique, the secrets of which have been lost for centuries. He is known as "the dreamer of Venice," a city which he leaves rarely and paints constantly with poetic comprehension.

A new show of work of members of the Carmel Art Association opened last week and will remain on the walls until April. Joe Ataide was chairman of the jury for this show. Other members were Richard Lofton, Rip Matteson, Joe Feuerborn, Robert Davey, Sam Harris, Jane Buffington and Beth Garcia.

Tonight the board of directors of the art association will meet to consider the latest applications for membership in the non-profit group, oldest art organization in Carmel.

Until March 22, paintings by Dorr Bothwell; also icons and decorative art from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Klene of Carmel Valley, will be on display at the American Federation of Art headquarters on Lincoln Street south of Ocean Avenue.

The Red Bridge, a water color by Donald Teague, N. A., of Carmel, was awarded the Samuel Finley Breese Morse medal at the opening of the 137th annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design in New York. This show will close on March 18.

Dr. Lert Rehearses County Symphony For Tuesday Concert

The Monterey County Symphony will give a concert in Sunset School auditorium on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock; the preceding evening in Salinas High School auditorium at 8:15.

Dr. Richard Lert, conductor of the Pasadena Symphony and musical director of the American Symphony League's Asilomar workshop, is here this week and will participate in some of the orchestra's final rehearsals, according to Monterey County Symphony conductor, John Gosling. Dr. Lert has continuously shown enthusiastic interest in the local Symphony.

Soloist for next week's programs will be mezzo-soprano Karen Steinke of Carmel, who will be heard in operatic excerpts from Alceste, Il Trovatore, and the Consul. Orchestral works to be presented are Samuel Barber's Adagio for Strings and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3, The Eroica.

Tickets for this performance are on sale at the Browse Around Shop. Symphony officials report a heavy demand for tickets to this concert and ask that all season ticket holders who may be unable to attend the performance, turn in their tickets so that the orchestra may benefit from a double sale.

NEW DEAN WITTER MANAGER

Thomas E. McCullough of San Jose will be the resident manager of the new Dean Witter and Company office in Monterey, which will open this summer after extensive remodeling of its location on Abrego Street.

Mr. McCullough is an account executive in the San Jose office of the investment brokerage firm at the present time. A native of Terre Haute, Indiana, he is a graduate of Stanford University with a bachelor of arts degree. He served five years in the United States Air Force, from 1951 to 1956, attaining the rank of first lieutenant.

The newly-named resident manager has been very active in community affairs in San Jose. He will move to Monterey with his wife and two children shortly before the opening of the office.

You are one with the elements—
water, rock, air,
and fire,
ignoring forever
the fates and the gods'
dark ire.
You wear a crown,
beaten from a Grecian

and wear a purple cape,
that covers a whole
universe.

EARLY MORNING

The almond tree is coming into bloom.
The just blown blossoms
Are caught like white butterflies
In the gray basketry
Of twig and bough.

Now, we see the flower whole,
Untouched by wind or bee . . .
This is the round moment,
The breathless time
Before the petals fall.

STORM TOSSED

The shells along the strand
Are strewn by restless waves,
In groups or strays alone
From under water caves.

Our lives are tossed about
By strange and stormy seas.
Defeat can never win,
When faith holds all the keys.

Trustees Nominated For Re-Election To Hospital Board

Five incumbents whose terms are expiring have been nominated for re-election to the Community Hospital Board of Trustees.

The election will take place at the annual membership meeting to be held at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon on March 28 in Colton Hall, Monterey.

Shreve M. Archer, Jr., Mrs. F. G. Cruickshank, Dr. A. Carol McKenney, Mrs. John M. Marble and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse have been nominated for re-election. They were proposed by a three-man nominating committee headed by C. T. Hill, chairman.

Trustees are elected for three-year terms, but may not serve more than two consecutive three-year terms.

Members of the Board of Trustees whose terms are not expiring are Vernon F. Hurd, T. Jack Foster, Joseph B. Fratessa, Mrs. Allen Griffin, J. O. Handley, R. Stafford Hughes, John M. Pattullo, Charles E. Simpson, Mark Thomas and Hill.

Persons eligible to vote at the March 28 annual membership meeting in Colton Hall are annual members (those who have donated at least $10 to the non-profit hospital since the 1961 annual meeting) and life members (those who have donated $1,000 or more to the hospital).

Louis Sanchez

Word has been received on the Peninsula of the death March 3 in Palo Alto of Louis Adolfo Sanchez, who was known here for his interest in California and in the welfare of the state's historical museums, including Colton Hall in Monterey.

He was a nephew of Robert Louis Stevenson's wife, Fanny Osborne Stevenson, whose presence on the West Coast originally brought the famous Scottish writer to this area and resulted in Stevenson's including the poem To My Name-Child in A Child's Garden of Verses. This poem describes the wonders of the seashore for "little Louis Sanchez . . . on the beach of Monterey." Mr. Sanchez's mother, the late Mrs. Nellie Van der Griff Sanchez, was in her own right a popular author of her time.

Much historical material from the Sanchez and Stevenson families has been contributed by Mr. Sanchez to the Colton Hall Museum.

Mr. Sanchez was a native of California, and graduated in engineering from the University of California at Berkeley in 1906, later becoming one of the founders of his alma mater's Bancroft Library. He worked both here and abroad as an engineer and prior to his retirement was employed by Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Zoe Sanchez, with whom he made his home in Oakland; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald Matney of Seaside, and Mrs. Mona Dolphin of Oakland; a son, Louis Adolfo Sanchez, Jr., of Arcata, and three grandchildren.

THE MEANING OF LIFE

We are the channels through which the life of humanity flows, and we should seek to purify the stream as it passes through us, realizing that the manner in which we give expression to its values will determine the life of the future, as well as the character and worth of our own life.

Eiko Yoshizato Is Married

Word has been received of the marriage last fall of Eiko Yoshizato, young violinist and former Carmelite who played with the Monterey County Symphony, to cellist Silvio Lavatelli. The couple live in Los Angeles.

A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, Eiko also appeared here as a soloist, in recitals, and as a member of the Bach Festival orchestra. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiroshi Yoshizato of Carmel.

Republican Women Will Meet

The Carmel Republican Women's Club will hold a luncheon meeting March 29 at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club. There will be a social hour from noon until 1:00 o'clock, followed by luncheon. For information concerning tickets and for reservations, members are asked to call Mrs. Frank Creede, MA 4-4413; Mrs. Steven Sassoon, MA 4-1664; or Mrs. Lawson Little, Jr., MA 4-2654. The deadline for reservations is March 24.

Mrs. Campbell Watson, vice-chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, will speak on The Road for '62 — Forward or Backward.

There will also be a "mad hatters" contest. Prizes will be awarded for the most original, the prettiest, and the most political hat. Judges will be Mrs. Robert Stanton and cartoonists Frank O'Neal and Lee Holley. All women attending are invited to participate in the contest.

Activities of Lawyers' Wives

The Monterey County Bar Association and the Lawyers' Wives of Monterey County are inviting members and guests to a dinner dance Friday evening at the Beach Club. Cocktails will be served at 7:00 o'clock, dinner at 8:30, with special entertainment and Saint Patrick's Day decorations.

Committee members from the Lawyers' Wives who have arranged the dance include Mrs. William Curtis, Monterey; Mrs. Hal Romig and Mrs. John Shephard, Monterey Peninsula Country Club; and Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Carmel.

At a recent luncheon meeting at the Pebble Beach home of Mrs. Malcolm Millard, the Lawyers' Wives announced their officers for this year. They are Mrs. William Bryan, Salinas, president; Mrs. William Curtis, vice president; Mrs. Laurence Horan, Carmel, recording secretary; Mrs. William Stoffers, Salinas, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Tuttle, Salinas, treasurer.

Successful "Duds' Week End"

Mrs. Richard Lofton and Mrs. Russell Williams drove to Pinecrest Friday afternoon for a week end of "duds' skiing," taking with them Mrs. Lofton's daughter, Melissa; Mrs. Williams' daughter, Molly; Penny Nesbitt and Janie Miller.

All first-time skiers, the group took lessons and decided that they weren't really duds after all. "We all learned to snowplow, at least," reports Mrs. Williams.

Carmel Girls Europe Bound

Sherry Raney, the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. J. D. Raney, and Gina Millington, juniors at California Polytechnic College and San Jose State College respectively, will take a temporary leave of absence from their studies to spend the next six months in Europe.

Accompanied by Jean Elston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elston, Sherry and Gina will leave here Thursday to drive to New York City. Sailing on the Saturnia April 3, they will land in Naples 12 days later, spend Easter week in Rome, then gradually travel north "by bus and train and on foot," comments Gina, "and hope not on foot over the Swiss Alps!" Sherry, who has already lived in parts of Europe with her parents, speaks fluent French and German. Staying in youth hostels on the way, the two girls plan to arrive in England in June to spend the summer wandering through Great Britain, "even to the Shetland Islands," and visiting Gina's relatives there.

Jean, meanwhile, who completed her studies at Monterey Peninsula College last semester, will spend three months in New York with Nancy Barrows, a former Carmel High School classmate. Nancy's father, Dr. Thomas N. Barrows, teaches at the Robert Louis Stevenson School; he and Mrs. Barrows now live in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club area.

In June, Jean will join a student tour of Europe which will take her to nine countries. By September all three girls will be back in Carmel and off to college again.

Orchid Show Winners

Dr. R. A. Kocher is proud of the blue ribbon he won at the Monterey Spring Orchid Show held last week at the Fairgrounds and jointly sponsored by the Carmel Orchid Society and the Monterey Bay Orchid Society. He exhibited a pale pink cymbidium which "just happened to be growing in the garden" and which won in the "strictly novice" class, according to Mrs. Kocher.

Other Carmel winners include Dr. and Mrs. Rolf Bolin, Mrs. Frank Timmins, and Eric Mayell.

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Washburn welcomed a son, Scott Edward, on February 25.

Lieutenant j.g. and Mrs. David Boice, of the United States Naval Facility at Big Sur, became the parents of a daughter, Cathey Elaine, on March 1.

Jill Alise is the name that Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McWilliams have given their daughter who was born on March 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Pearcy of the Big Sur Naval Facility became the parents of a son, Donald Lynn, on March 4.

March 4 was also the birthday of Melanie Ann Sanders, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Sanders.

All the babies were born at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

Masons To Confer First Degree

The first degree will be conferred Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the meeting of Lodge Number 680 F. & A. M.

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

"Mr. Watson, come here, I want you." With these words, spoken by Alexander Graham Bell 86 years ago this month, the telephone was born. And it's really grown since then.

By July, 1878, there were all of 10,755 Bell telephones in service; by 1910 over 3 million. Then in 1915 transcontinental service went into effect and folks could talk from San Francisco to New York —for $20.75.

Today that same long distance call to New York costs just $2.25. And, your telephone links you with some 140,000,000 others here and around the world. That's some growing!

March is Red Cross month. Let's see how Red Cross served us on the Monterey Peninsula last year.

During 1961 the Red Cross provided 1,214 pints of blood to patients of the various Peninsula hospitals and to patients elsewhere when requested by local donors. The Home Service of the Red Cross assisted 2,190 military and veteran families and gave $13,817 in outright grants and $32,817 in non-interest bearing loans. The First Aid program trained 24 new instructors and provided First Aid Teams for public events such as SCRAMP road races.

These are but a few of the services rendered to our community and when you take the nationwide and worldwide services of emergency relief and long range rehabilitation of victims of disasters, caring for displaced persons in areas torn by strife you can see it takes a lot of money. Please JOIN THE EMPLOYEES OF THE PACIFIC TELEPHONE COMPANY IN CONTRIBUTING TO THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

You might not think so, listening to a fast talker, but everyone's speech is full of silent spaces, actually split-second pauses. Now, telephone people have found a way to put those silent spaces to work on overseas phone calls.

Between California and Hawaii, for example, an amazing device called TASI (short for "Time Assignment Speech Interpolation") is now doubling the number of voices transocean cable can carry.

8,000 times a second TASI samples voice channels, uses those split-second pauses in speech to send bits of other conversations over the momentarily idle lines. At the other end, the conversations are unscrambled and sound just like normal phone calls.

TASI is another way we've found to bring you more —and better—telephone service. Pacific Telephone

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How to gain dominion over lack and limitation will be explained in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Assurance of unlimited abundance is presented in the Bible readings including this verse from Psalm 84: "For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this statement will be read (p. 301): "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter.'

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (2): "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God revealed them unto us by his Spirit."

Cal Poly Students Wed Here

Members of two pioneer California families, both students at California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo, were married in Carmel on Saturday afternoon. They were Carolyn Dixon Graber, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graber of Ontario, and William Russ McBride, the son of Mrs. Viola Russ McBride of Ferndale and Carmel and Rex McBride of Eureka.

The double-ring ceremony, performed by the Reverend David Hill, took place at 4:00 o'clock in All Saints' Episcopal Church. Sunshine brightened the stained glass window above the carved altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and daffodils in brass bowls which reflected the glow of nearby candles in tall standard candelabra. Robert Forbes, church organist, played the wedding music.

Carolyn was given in marriage by her father. She wore an off-white suit with a flowered blouse, matching hat and shoes, and carried a cascade bouquet of white baby roses and bouvardia.

She was attended by Susan Beth Stanley of West Covina, a longtime friend and a fellow student at Cal Poly, who was clad in a white sheath dress and carried a nosegay of pink baby roses mingled with carnations of a deeper hue.

Andy McBride, also a Cal Poly student, was best man for his oldest brother.

Mrs. Graber attended her daughter's marriage in a beige silk suit. Her white flower halo hat matched her orchid corsage.

Mrs. McBride, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a turquoise silk suit, white flower cloche hat and a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

The reception after the wedding was held in the Crystal Room at Pine Inn. Gardenias surrounded the wedding cake on the buffet table, lit by candles in crystal candelabra. Arrangements of white carnations were placed at each end of the same table and bouquets of deep red and rose carnations stood on low tables at each side of the room beside Victorian sofas covered in red velvet. Clusters of grapes decorated the champagne table.

Following a honeymoon in Carmel, the bride and bridegroom resumed their studies at Cal Poly this week.

Carolyn graduated from the Desert Sun School in Idyllwild, and attended Colorado State University before transferring to Cal Poly. Her husband, Bill, was a student at the University of California at Davis, then served in Korea with the U.S. Marines, before resuming college work at Cal Poly. He began his elementary school education at Sunset School in Carmel.

Carolyn's grandfather, in 1894, pioneered an olive ranch in the San Jacinto Valley in Southern California. He also established the C. C. Graber Company, an olive processing firm, which is the oldest business in Ontario.

Bill was named after his grandfather, William Russ, who came by ship around the Horn to California in 1849 bringing with him a complete pre-fabricated store. After he arrived he traded this for a herd of cattle, later homesteaded land in Humboldt County and became one of the county's leading dairy, cattle and sheep ranchers. His home was in Ferndale.

In addition to many Carmel friends, which included Mrs. Metta Robarts, wedding guests were the bridegroom's father, childhood and college friends of both Carolyn and Bill, also June Kim of Seoul, Korea, who came to this country recently to live with Mr. and Mrs. Graber.

Carmel Girl State Semi-Finalist

Wanda Garlyn Robinson, Monterey Peninsula College sophomore, is a semi-finalist in the State Scholarship Program, according to word received at the college this week.

The 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack V. Robinson of Carmel is a mathematics major at MPC. Her professional goal, she says, is a career in "some area of applied science."

Meanwhile, she is one of the busiest girls at the college. Not only does she carry a full program of studies, but she works part-time in the student store and as a mathematics reader, leads the baton twirlers and finds some time for dating. This spring she will go as a delegate to a college mock UN session at San Diego. Last semester she was sophomore class secretary.

Garlyn was valedictorian of her 1960 graduating class at Clay County High School in Green Cove Springs, Florida. At MPC, she is a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, junior college honor society; had a 4.0 (straight A) average in spring, 1961; has a cumulative grade point of 3.77. She plans to attend the University of California at Davis in the fall.

West Point Dinner

Major General Edmund B. Sebree (USA ret.) of Carmel will be master of ceremonies at the Founder's Day dinner Saturday evening at the Presidio of Monterey Officers Club to celebrate the 160th anniversary of the founding of the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Colonel E. R. Heiberg, professor and head of the department of mechanics at West Point will be the guest speaker. The oldest and youngest graduates will comment on academy life as they knew it.

The dinner will begin at 6:30 o'clock, and reservations may be made by calling Lieutenant Colonel Arvid P. Croonquist at Fort Ord, 242-4439.

Dinner Poster Winners

Students at Junipero Serra School at Carmel Mission Basilica have been busy making posters telling about the St. Patrick's Day ham dinner their elders have planned for Saturday at the school.

This activity was climaxed this week with the announcement that Marilyn Adams, a Serra sixth grader, has won first prize for the best poster.

Other winners are Maria Aliotti, fourth grade, second prize, and Kathleen Martins, fifth grade, third prize. Honorable mention went to Jeff Haltiner, Julia Ambrisio, Pam Odello, Mary Ellen Mahoney, Regina Everett, Linda Manestar and Susan Stanley.

Emilio Odello is general chairman of the dinner, which is being sponsored by the local chapters of Knights of Columbus and Catholic Daughters.

Touring In Mexico

Mrs. Richard J. Creedon and Mrs. Gus Arriola are making a spring vacation junket to Mexico. According to reports coming back to the Peninsula, it's turning out to be an enjoyable trip.

A February bride, the former Christine Ruth Montgomery, and her husband, Thomas Barry Buss, shown above in the courtyard of the Carmel Mission Basilica following their wedding in the chapel, are now making their home in Walnut Creek after a honeymoon spent at Lake Tahoe.

Christine, a native Carmelite, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Montgomery of Carmel. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee F. Buss of Walnut Creek.

The Basilica chapel was decorated for the marriage with two large bouquets of red and white carnations on either side of the altar. Father Roger Dieudonne performed the ceremony.

The bride was escorted up the aisle by her father. Her floor-length gown was of white bridal satin trimmed with white velvet, and her three-tiered veil of white silk tulle was held by a tiny crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white orchids ringed with miniature garnet roses.

Carol Wise of Carmel was Christine's maid of honor. She wore a short-skirted scarlet satin dress and her colonial bouquet was of white carnations.

In keeping with a St. Valentine's Day color scheme, Christine's bridesmaid, June Timmons, the bridegroom's niece, wore scarlet peau de soie and also carried white carnations.

Four-year-old Julie Ann Montgomery, the bride's sister and flower girl, was dressed in scarlet velveteen.

Barry's best man was David Haas of Walnut Creek. The two ushers were Michael Montgomery, Christine's brother, and Allan Marshall, both of Carmel.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Montgomery chose an electric blue wool afternoon dress with beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore toast-colored silk jersey. Both Mrs. Buss and Mrs. Montgomery had corsages of the same miniature garnet roses that encircled the bride's bouquet.

The young couple cut their heart-shaped wedding cake at a champagne reception held in Crespi Hall. A dinner for 40 of the two families' immediate relatives and out of town guests was given later by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Miller, Jr., in their home on Pescadero Road.

Christine is a graduate of Junipero Serra School at Carmel Mission and Carmel High School. Her two other brothers are John and Timothy Montgomery of Carmel.

Barry, a native of St. Louis, Missouri, graduated from Las Lomas High School in Walnut Creek, attended Humboldt State College, and completed his Army Reserve duty at Fort Ord. At present he is working with the Standard Oil Company in Orinda.

Relatives from out of town who attended the wedding included Mrs. Mary Roti, Christine's maternal grandmother, of San Jose; Mrs. Fred Bentley of Fallbrook, her paternal grandmother; Rose Roti, Domenic and Peter Roti, her aunt and uncles, of San Jose; Mr. and Mrs. L. Laptola, her godparents, also of San Jose.

Besides Barry's parents, other relatives at the wedding were his sister, Mrs. A. R. Timmons, with her husband and children, of Walnut Creek; and his brother, Lee F. Buss, Jr., and Mrs. Buss, of San Diego.

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone:

Arena Blanca Poets want you to know how grateful we are to the Pine Cone for co-sponsoring the High School Poetry Contests. The one just completed was very successful, with plenty of interest. All winners were present at the Award Meeting held on February 21 at the Carmel Art Gallery, with a good attendance of parents and friends.

More than one parent spoke to me, thanking the Pine Cone and our group for sponsoring this cultural activity, specifically stating that this was as necessary as sports or other challenges to mental growth.

So, we think this an indication that this effort is worthwhile. Our thanks goes to you, also, for being far-sighted in behalf of the community.

Sincerely yours,
Olivia Young,
Contest Chairman

Juanita Franklin

Mrs. Juanita Franklin of Pebble Beach died Monday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 64, and had been a resident of this area for 34 years.

A native of Birmingham, Alabama, where she was born February 16, 1898, Mrs. Franklin made her home at El Bosque Road and Crest Drive. She was a member of Carmel Chapter 581, Order of Eastern Star.

Survivors are her husband, Ben K. Franklin; three sisters, Mrs. C. W. Phillips, Mrs. Eula Tidwell and Mrs. E. R. Stephenson, all of Birmingham; six nephews, and five nieces.

Funeral services, conducted by members of the OES chapter and with Dr. Joseph M. Ewing of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating, were to be held this afternoon at Mission Mortuary Chapel, Monterey. Cremation will follow.

Alice Osborne

Requiem Mass was celebrated this morning at Carmel Mission Basilica for Mrs. Alice Mary Osborne, who died Monday in a local hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Osborne, wife of Colonel Robert E. Osborne (USA ret.), was known in Carmel for her many church and school activities. She was the first president of the Mothers' Club of Junipero Serra School at the Mission and was a past president of Carmel High School Parent-Teacher Association. She was also a member of the Mission Altar Society and of the Rosary Society.

Born February 16, 1906, in Kimble, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Osborne had been a Carmel resident some 20 years. The family home is at Alta and Mission streets.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, are two sons, Robert R. Osborne of Milwaukee, and Peter R. Osborne of Santa Barbara; a daughter, Miss Mary A. Osborne of Carmel; two sisters, Mrs. Loretta Whetstone of Sherman Oaks, and Mrs. Paul McGinnis of Newton, New Jersey; two brothers, Russell Sartori of Hawley, Pennsylvania, and Lieutenant Colonel G. A. Sartori of Washington, D.C.

Contributions in memory of Mrs. Osborne may be made to the Montetrey County Cancer Society, P. O. Box 1028, Monterey.

MORSES HAVE VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walker of Rancho Santa Fe will spend the week end with Mrs. Walker's father, Samuel F. B. Morse, and Mrs. Morse in Pebble Beach.

RICHARD COLLINS RETURNS

Richard D. Collins is back in Pebble Beach after spending three weeks in Ireland where he and a group of Pebble Beach equestrians took part in a full schedule of cross country hunting.

Mrs. Collins is travelling to the Greek islands with Mrs. Marie Davies and Dobbie Coleman, also will visit Paris before she comes home.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

In June of 1942, German spies landed at two different places on our eastern coast. Completely equipped to act as saboteurs, they were brought here by submarines. Four of the men came ashore near Long Island and four more landed on the Florida coast. Separately they came to New York "to maim and to kill" as J. Edgar Hoover expressed it. But one of them decided to tell their story to the F.B.I. and from that time on the bureau did not rest until all eight were in custody. The book about them was written by Eugene Rachlis, who at that time was living on Long Island not far from the spot where the landing took place. In They Came to Kill, he tells not only the story of the landing and capture of the eight men, but also the story of their trial and conviction. All eight were found guilty and all were executed as spies.

Many people regard belief in reincarnation as being mainly Oriental and not compatible with Christian doctrine. A new book edited by Joseph Head is entitled Reincarnation, and seeks to document the opinions on this important subject as expressed by many famous and important persons in the fields of religion and philosophy. This is a book which should be approached by the reader through its twin doors, index and table of contents. The index is largely a list of the persons whose writings and speeches are included in the anthology. The table of contents lists the plan of the book, so that the reader may learn of the subject as included in the various religions of the world, or as believed by western thinkers in the various countries of the western world.

Progressivism in education has become the scene for a battle about "what, how, and whom the schools ought to teach." The author of a new book on education today and yesterday is a professor of education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, whose name is Lawrence Cremin. The book is a history of progressivism and covers the years 1876 to 1957. The title is The Transformation of the School.

For the collector, we have Excursions in Old Glass by Flora Mills. The author began collecting glass in 1934 and since that time has amassed a large and rare collection. It has always seemed to this librarian that the first thing a dedicated collector should strive for is a kind and understanding spouse. There is a picture of Mr. Mills in the book.

The Newbery and Caldecott awards were announced this week. These are the two yearly awards made to the author of the best book for children and the illustrator who did the best work in the illustrating of a book for children. The Newbery went to Elizabeth Speare for her book The Bronze Bow, and the illustrator chosen for the Caldecott was Marcia Brown for her pictures in Once A Mouse. We have The Bronze Bow and will be ordering Once A Mouse. This information is for you in case you have small ones. Naturally, they use the library.

From the book, Reincarnation, we have the epitaph of Benjamin Franklin, written by himself at the age of 22:

The Body of B. Franklin,
Printer,
Like the Cover of an Old Book,
Its Contents Torn Out
And
Stripped of its Lettering and Gilding, Lies Here,
Food for Worms,
But the Work shall not be Lost,
For it Will as He Believed
Appear Once More
In a New and more Elegant Edition
Revised and Corrected
By the Author.

The capitalization is his own, or so Joseph Head would have us believe, although he states that there are several versions of the epitaph, all very like the others. Thought provoking!

Board Cautious About Teachers' Salary Proposals

though he were new to the district.

"I don't quarrel with the goals," Dr. Richard Snyder commented, "but perhaps what is all right for this year may be wrong for next year. Perhaps the schedule could be made double at the top what it is at the bottom, without freezing the figures. Carmel has been at about the median on salaries. Now we are behind the mean and we propose to carry over to next year the same minimum salary. This would put us even farther behind. We may be handicapping our recruitment of teachers for next year."

Moody thought, however, that with the new schedule Carmel would in effect be encouraging experienced teachers." By improving our maximum scale," he said, "we can encourage experienced teachers who would be coming to us already in a category half-way up the scale."

According to the ACT studies included with the proposed schedule, and based on comparisons of communities similar to Carmel, trends seem to be to extend maximum salaries three or four times as fast as minimums.

The minimum $4,800 salary compares to the same figure in Pacific Grove, $4,750 in Gilroy, $4,810 in Monterey and $4,850 in Salinas. But in these same communities the maximums for a master's degree or its equivalent (which is $7,977 in Carmel) are $7,800 in Pacific Grove, but $8,250 in Gilroy, $8,530 in Monterey and $8,300 in Salinas.

In communities of like characteristics elsewhere in the state maximum figures run: Antioch, $8,075; Beverly Hills, $9,725; El Segundo, $8,740; Laguna Beach, $8,000; Palm Springs, $9,240; San Marino, $9,400. The minimums in these areas are, however, substantially the same as Carmel, the reports showed.

Board members congratulated Moody and his committee on the completeness of his report. The matter will be studied again soon with a goal of getting a salary schedule set up prior to adoption of next year's school budget.

Wakefield Presents Lowered Rec Budget

dents had caused overcrowding and lessening of efficiency in the teaching program.

"Isn't it true that the younger students take to the water faster, a four-year-old faster than an 11-year-old?" Snyder persisted.

"An 11-year-old learns faster," Wakefield said, and promised to bring the doubtful Dr. Snyder data to prove this.

Completing the board's agenda were these other matters:

Trustees turned down an offer from the local Masons to conduct corner-stone laying ceremonies at the new Carmel Junior High School, explaining that plans for a dedication ceremony later will soon get underway.

Discussed was a request from the professional math study group and citizens' math study group for board consideration of hiring math consultant John Martin of Menlo Park on a contractual basis for consultation with this district or on a joint basis with other local districts. Martin worked previously with teachers here to set up the School Math Study Group program on a pilot plan at River School.

The board also accepted the resignation of two teachers, Mrs. Wendee Smith of Tularcitos and Mrs. Constance Wagner of Carmelo, and acknowledged receipt of a painting of the Half Dome (rock formation in Yosemite Park) given Sunset School by the estate of William C. Watts.

CARMEL GIRL WINS LIONS SPEECH CONTEST

Nancy Baxter, Carmel High School senior, this week became Monterey Peninsula winner of the annual Lions Club speech competition, it was announced this week.

Nancy won over three other contestants from Peninsula communities and will compete later this month in Salinas for the area speech championship.

have lived in Carmel, its environs and the Peninsula (In the latter instance only if the artist has been closely connected with Carmel); museum rules and regulations shall be as flexible as possible; commissioners, before their next meeting, to draw up lists proposing names of representative artists whose work is desired for exhibition in the museum.

Contemporary art, such as the Garner head of Robinson Jeffers, world-famous poet who lived here for 45 years, will be accepted for the museum when it memorializes a local deceased resident who, in the arts, has brought fame to Carmel.

Commissioners decided to propose to the city council that the arts commission assume the responsibility of leasing the Forest Theater, also that a part-time caretaker be authorized for the city-owned theater. (Commissioner Kearns offered to assume this responsibility temporarily.)

They included in their recommendation the partitioning of the east part of the area below the stage for storage of properties of the different groups who lease the theater from time to time, thus freeing the Theater-in-the-Ground area from unnecessary clutter and safeguarding the lessees' properties.

This proposal met with the approval of the two present prospective lessees, Cole Weston and a Carmel puppet group, Mr. Kearns indicated.

Another recommendation was that the Forest Theater premises not be leased to one group only, except for specific dates.

Arts commissioners also decided a master plan for handling and maintaining the theater is necessary. Chairman Marjorie Wurzmann appointed a committee consisting of Commissioners Hazel McClellan, Geza St. Galy and Glenn Kearns to meet with the city council's land and improvements committee on fire protection measures for the theater, also installation of a lighting system.

Coolidge Campaigns Here Next Week For GOP Nomination

Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge, Santa Cruz, will visit the Monterey Peninsula next week to campaign for the Republican nomination as Congressman in the new 12th district in the June 5 primary. (Because of reapportionment boundary changes, Congressman Charles E. Teague will run for re-election only in Ventura and Santa Barbara counties.)

Coolidge will open his district headquarters at the San Carlos Hotel, Monterey, with a reception from 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The event is open to the public and refreshments will be served free. Prior to the reception, Coolidge will address the Monterey County Young Republican membership meeting at the Mark Thomas Inn at 6:45 o'clock.

Coolidge also is scheduled to address the Monterey Peninsula Republican Men's Club at Carmel High School cafeteria 9:00 o'clock on Monday evening. He will conduct a person-to-person campaign in the Carmel business area Wednesday morning.

Downcoast Schools Split On Annexation To Carmel District

Captain Cooper School District trustee, Don McQueen of Big Sur, told the augmented Monterey County Committee on School District Organization Monday night that his downcoast district wishes to annex to Carmel Unified School District.

Frank Trotter, Palo Colorado School District trustee, said his district, which lies between Captain Cooper and Carmel districts, prefers to join a proposed Monterey unified district.

Both Captain Cooper and Palo Colorado districts are now part of the Monterey high school district, but are separate elementary school districts. If Monterey high school and city school districts decide to unify, the downcoast schools have three choices: join Monterey's unified district; join Carmel's unified district; or form their own high school district.

Last week Carmel Unified School District trustees indicated they would favor the two districts south of Carmel annexing to Carmel district.

If Palo Colorado district does become part of the proposed Monterey unified district, Captain Cooper may still annex to Carmel, as Captain Cooper and Carmel districts are contiguous in their southern portions.

Monday night's meeting was the first of three on the Monterey unification matter. Next meeting will be on April 9.

Planners Approval Of Beach Subdivision Appealed To Council

A planning commission approval of the subdivision of a piece of beach land into three building sites has been appealed to the city council.

Tuesday, Donald Smith, an attorney, filed the appeal at City Hall on the behalf of M. Metzenbaum. The necessary petition for such action was signed by 29 persons, predominately residents of the area in question. City Clerk L. D. Rose verified the signature of one signer, Antone Hrusa, as required by the city code. The land, owned by Anita Doud and Kathleen Doud Watson, is situated north of Seventh Avenue on the west side of Scenic Drive.

The property is three-fourths of an original 80 by 200 foot lot. One present regulation-size 40 by 100 foot building site has been established on the original lot. Miss Doud and Mrs. Watson were permitted by the planning commission to similarly divide the remaining portion.

Because Del Mar Street, access road to this land, has been abandoned by the city, entrance to the three sites was granted by the commission on a ten-foot driveway off Scenic Drive, but this driveway was not to be used for public access to the beach.

The city council will consider the appeal on the above decisions on April 4, and may set a public hearing on the matter at that time. However, because the earliest opportunity to hold the hearing would be April 16, and election of two city councilmen takes place on April 10, the present council could delay setting a date for the hearing until after the new council is seated following the canvass of the municipal vote on April 17.

Investigate Power Of Spiritual Insight Lecturer Urges

Meet the challenge of sin, sickness, and limitation by investigating the power of spiritual understanding, Ella H. Hay of Indianapolis, Indiana, said in a public lecture here Tuesday evening, March 13.

"Great inspiration, strength, and satisfaction await one who persistently investigates Truth," Mrs. Hay declared.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, she spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ Scientist, Carmel, in the church edifice, Monte Verde Street near Sixth Avenue. She was introduced by Richard Mack, First Reader, Carmel.

The lecturer emphasized the priceless value of knowledge of the Bible and its records of the operation of spiritual law.

"It is indeed strengthening to note," she said, "how Scriptural characters in many instances met the challenge of discord through the demonstration of spiritual truth and to find that the same ability is demonstrable today for everyone."

Mrs. Hay described prayer in terms of knowing the truth—humbly, positively, and constructively.

Scientific prayer, she said, "is expressing the true meaning of love by seeing our neighbor and ourselves as children of God. It is conviction based on reason, revelation, and the demonstration of the fact that matter is unreal, with nothing good to offer, while divine Mind is all and is manifested in intelligent action, health, and prosperity."

The subject of the lecture was "Investigate! Christian Science Meets the Challenge of Sin, Sickness, and Limitations."

John Gromli

Dr. John Einer Gromli, former Lutheran missionary to China and South Africa, died last Thursday morning in a local hospital after a long siege of illness. He was 71, and had retired from the ministry two years ago to a home at 18 River Road in Carmel Valley.

Dr. Gromli was born in Hvaler, Norway, and came to the United States at the age of 17. He studied at Northwestern University, Evenston, Illinois, and graduated from the Lutheran Seminary, St. Paul, Minnesota.

He served 42 years in the ministry following his ordination in 1920, first in China and later, after further studies at McGill University in Canada, in South Africa where he served the Zulu Mission.

In 1934 he became executive secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, a post he held until 1945, when he became director of missionary education at the Lutheran Bible Institute, Minneapolis.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Marjorie G. Gromli of Carmel Valley; two sons, Olav G. Gromli of Norway, and Reverend John V. Gromli of Harlowton, Montana; a sister, Mrs. Anker Olsen of Sarpsborg, Norway, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday in the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Salinas.
